The day she left
It was a day like any other
A bright and sunny morning
With a Cappuccino
For the road

The day she left
Just like any other summer morning
How could it happened
That I really
Had not seen

Well she just left
She took her purse and said I'm sorry
she grabbed her keys
And left me all alone

The day she left
Clear skies lightning came and struck me
Without any warning – unpredicted
Out of the blue

INSTR

Well now she's gone
just like ripping off a band-aid
A little bit of pain
But it needed to be done

Now that she's left
All that's left is moving onward
Wish her all the best – on her way
And I'd had never liked the morning – anyway (I'm starting in a new live – anyway)

And I started in a new life - The day she left (Though I'll never like that morning – the day she left)
